He became a tour guide. He organized tours for people without jackets or sweaters.
His tours were extremely popular, he soon gained international reputation.
Throughout his tours, he was always very approachable, everybody wanted to talk with him.
Some of his famous tours were so popular that the participants had to pose for the local TV station.
Then he became a very famous and extremely popular cruise director.